Press Information

Our Philosophy

Our aim is to revive the classic soda culture. We strongly believe that water deserves more appreciation and serving water needs more style. Our motto is: "You are what you drink". That is the reason why we offer long-lasting products with top quality – simply products with their own history.

Our Restored Soda Siphons

Over 100 years ago the Sparklets Corporation of London set forth the gold standard for quality and design of Soda Siphons. Die Siphon Manufaktur has been helping these beautiful seltzer bottles to a comeback by meticulously restoring them by hand. Dedication to quality and attention to detail make sure that these soda siphons are as unique as they once were in the 1920s and 1930s.

Die Siphon Manufaktur is currently focusing on soda siphons originally produced by Sparklets, the inventor of the soda siphon as we know it today. With their timeless design, unparalleled build quality, materials like mouth-blown glass and chrome plated metal parts these siphons are once again as popular as they were more than 80 years ago. And thanks to the professional restoration by hand they actually work as well as they look and enjoy growing popularity with professional bartenders and other users.

Currently, Die Siphon Manufaktur has a range of seltzer bottles in its portfolio covering different eras and countries of origin. Fans of soda culture find their way to the Siphon Manufaktur from all over the world. Sustainability is an important issue for the founders: Every soda siphon comes with a 5 year warranty, spare parts and a repair service all of which is aimed at prolonging the use cycle for as long as possible. Die Siphon Manufaktur expects of their products to last another 80 years from to time of purchase. Accordingly they will only cooperate with carefully selected regional partners and carefully choose tools and machinery fulfilling the highest quality criteria.

Our Modern Soda Siphons

Die Siphon Manufaktur offers with the Tokyo Soda Siphon a modern version of the classic siphon. Manufactured from stainless steel, drop resistant and light weighted the Tokyo Soda Siphon is perfect for use in the rough environment of professional catering and bar tending. It is safe and easy to use and just as well suited for home use.

The Tokyo Soda Siphon stands out with timeless design and perfect workmanship – a basic requirement for all products of Die Siphon Manufaktur. The Tokyo Soda Siphon is part of the exhibition of the Museum of Modern Art in New York and was awarded with the "Design Of The Year Award" of the Wall Street Journal in 2010.

Our Standards

Meticulous attention to detail and quality made the Siphon Manufaktur what it is today. Thanks to dedicated team members who respect their products' unique heritage and treat them with care, Die Siphon Manufaktur managed to establish itself internationally as a renowned specialist for soda siphons with a loyal customer basis that includes passionate collectors and home users as well as professionals.
